Material Selection

The following door material options are defined to help homeowners choose the cabinetry that best suits their personal preferences:

- Stylish, easy to clean and an exceptional value
- Impervious to most nonabrasive household cleaning agents
- Resists scratches, cracks, stains, chips and dents

MDF (Medium Density Fiberboard) is the premier substrate choice for the membrane-pressed door industry.

Benefits of MDF:

- Provides a clean, contemporary aesthetic
- Highly versatile to accommodate any preference in décor
- Painted and Specialty color options offers personalized style

Oak Doors

- Distinctive, flame-shaped grain pattern
- Unique knots and varied woodgrain
- Well suited for both traditional and country-style environments

Maple Doors

- Characteristically straight-grained hardwood and wood veneers
- Uniform surface offers clean aesthetic
- Ideal for both modern and traditional rooms of the home

Cherry Doors

- Unique woodgrain characteristics with smooth surface
- Reddish hues are subtly enhanced over time
- Rich and warm appeal for a refined sophisticated look

NORCAN® Full-Access Cabinetry

Full-access cabinetry is constructed without the use of a face frame. The advantages of a full-access design include cabinet gables that are securely fastened together without bulky framing, thus creating more usable interior space, with hinges and other hardware out of view. The result is a more spacious, versatile cabinet with a sleek, streamlined look.

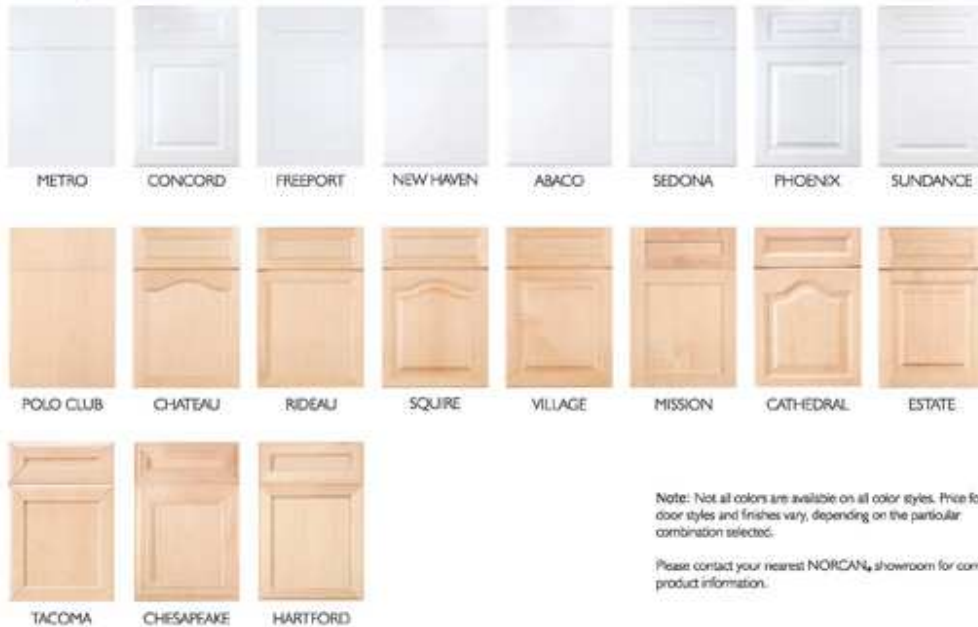

- More usable cabinet space
- No intrusive face frame to compromise accessibility
- Wider drawers provide more storage space
- Easier to clean without framed crevices
- Hinges out of view for a cleaner look
- Larger doors enhance beauty of the kitchen
- Traditional and contemporary design solutions
